In Remembrance of Elaine Farley

Funeral Services for Elaine Farley will be held on Saturday, November 5 at 11:00 a.m. at St. Paul's by-the-Sea. There will be a reception at the Farley home following the services. Below is the message Father Matthew sent out:

Dear ones:

In your charity please remember the repose of the souls of Elaine Farley, who was received into the hands of her creator early this morning, November 1.

It is indeed fitting that she entered the kingdom today, the Commemoration of All Saints, since her husband Bob and son Jimmy have already gone before her. I expect that they will be among the saints who will joyfully welcome her into the Kingdom.

Elaine had been in hospice for over a year, and had experienced a significant decline this past month. While this is not unexpected, nevertheless, we grieve our loss.

Please also remember her daughters Jody and Helena in this time. Reach out to them with a phone call, or hold them up in prayer.

Ecumenical Speaker Series Continues on November 14 with "Don't Leave a Mess!"

Death. It's a hard topic to talk about, so often we don't. Which means that important conversations get put off until it is too late, with our parents, our spouses, our children. In the event you are suddenly incapacitated, are you prepared?

This free session covers:

- The Advance Directive
- Planning Your Funeral
- Writing Your Will

Have you made a will? In any given year, up to 70% of Americans die without a will. Nevertheless, you DO have a will. The state wrote it for you years ago, but you may not like what it says or how it divides your possessions, or provides for care of your minor children.

Your estate plan should reflect your values. This session is presented by retired Rev. Charles Cloughen who has counseled hundreds through these decisions and has held 25-30 sessions like this in the course of his career. He is not an attorney, but will provide you with a workbook and all the forms you will need to get in order before working with an attorney to ensure your estate is properly handled.

Monday, November 14th from 7-8 PM
at The Red Doors Community Center
